

Kathryn Allison joined the new and defined Marketing, Events & Communications department at The Cotswold School in February 2017. She joins us part time, in addition, to running her own small PR Company.

With a MA Hons Geography degree from University of Aberdeen, she has over 15 years PR, marketing and communications experience in a variety of roles in this function - mainly within the wine trade. Her career and experience to date, has involved the management of communications for a wide-range of business projects, both products and services, advising a range of company sizes from start-up to established companies. This is supported with a fun, active and professional approach. She is a mother of twin boys of primary school age.
